Funding can be quite difficult in business, without the funds to start or expand makes your business idea virtually non-existent. One way is to submit your pitch or idea to websites that have registered investors on board. One example is pitchindia.com, at the moment registering is for free (don't know for how long though). As everyone is on the internet, you have a global audience, its easier than presenting to a board room full of investors.
