
Kudaa Transfer, Gospel of Software outsource

Posted by strawberry - 2008/04/03 04:34

With the development of economic globalization, more and more developed countries contract software business to the developing countries, because it can reduce the labor costs greatly. From the statistic data in recent years, software outsource has the trend of increasing rapidly.

Software outsource is a kind of transnational business, and it needs a large amount of data files to transfer across the world. Because of frequent interaction, software outsource has high requirements for transfer speed. The existing international broadband has formidable bottleneck, basically it's not realistic for large files to go international transfer by internet. Now most of international large files are treated through express CD, but the efficiency is too low to software outsource.

Kudaa transfer star developed by Kudaa Communications Limited, thoroughly solves the transfer problems of software outsource industry. Kudaa transfer star is the tool for accelerating internet transfer, especially having great advantage in transfer the transnational large files. Economic globalization has brought opportunity to software market, Kudaa transfer is the catalyst for the development of the software outsources.

The emergency of Kudaa software has brought gospel to software outsource: It's not only reflected in transfer efficiency, but also in low transfer costs. Kudaa software provides service completely for the international transfer freely, and it will provide all kinds of custom-tailoring services.

=====